

Welcome to the Machine Learning Project Calculator!

This tool is based on more than 50 real machine learning projects and their outcomes. As you will see, this calculator focuses at the moment primarily on projects, where you try to predict binary outcomes (e.g. whether a stock increases or declines). If you would like to see more features, please contact me on my contacts page or leave a comment below! All your feedback would be highly appreciated and taken into account for the development of this tool.
